

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK is APRIL 8-14, 2018

"Discover your passions and achieve your goals at the library." – MISTY COPELAND

Life in Motion Photo Credit: Gregg Deelman

MISTY COPELAND National Library Week Honorary Chair

As the first African American principal dancer at the American Ballet Theatre, Misty Copeland's leadership inspires young people to pursue their dreams regardless of the challenges they encounter. She is the author of several bestselling books, including Ballerina Body, published in March 2017.

LIBRARIES LEAD

Mississippi
National Library
Week

The logo for the Modern Language Association (MLA), consisting of the lowercase letters 'mla' in a bold, blue, sans-serif font.

